

Claim 3rd Payoff May Have Been Made To Connally

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jake Jacobsen says he now thinks he made a third $5,000 payment to former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, although he has no memory of handing Connally the cash.

The new allegation was drawn out of Jacobsen by Connally's defense lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, apparently to cast doubt on the clarity of Jacobsen's recollections.

Williams begins his second day of cross-examination today and is expected to probe for any weaknesses in Jacobsen's story about a bungled cover-up of the bribe money he says Connally took in 1971.

On Monday Williams hammered away at Jacobsen, attempting to paint the government's star witness as an accused embezzler who is testifying as part of a deal to keep out of jail and possibly hold onto his license to practice law.

Jacobsen is the only witness who claims first-hand knowledge of the two alleged payoffs that Connally is accused of taking for helping persuade the Nixon administration to raise milk prices.

The question of a third $5,000 has lingered since first mention of it was made in 1973. It was then that an official of Associated Milk Producers Inc., Bob A. Lilly, told prosecutors that Jacobsen had asked for a total of $15,000 to give to Connally.

Jacobsen testified that he took one $10,000 sum from Lilly, split it into two halves and gave the two $5,000 gifts to Connally on May 14 and Sept. 24, 1971.

But Jacobsen initially denied receiving the third $5,000, and the conflict in testimony between Lilly and Jacobsen was not resolved.

Williams introduced notes and transcripts on Monday showing that Jacobsen changed his story on the third $5,000 after poring over records of his safe deposit boxes in Austin, Tex., where he lives.

The records show Jacobsen opened one of his boxes on Dec. 14, 1971, two days before one of Jacobsen's trips to Washington to visit Connally.

Jacobsen told prosecutors and a federal grand jury that he could recall having money in his brief case on the trip. At first he said he had only an "inkling" that a third payoff was made, but later he testified to the investigators: "I must have given it to him, because I brought it to Washington for that purpose."

Jacobsen testified in court on Monday that it is still his "firm thought" that a third payoff was made. "The only thing I don't have a firm recollection of is giving it to Secretary Connally," he said.

During Monday's cross-examination Williams read page after page of Jacobsen's now-recanted testimony denying that Connally took the two $5,000 gifts.

Four different times in 1973 and 1974 Jacobsen denied the payoff allegations under oath, to the Watergate committee, to lawyers in a civil case and twice to the grand jury. Williams seemed to read every word of that testimony, in effect having the government's star witness testify for the defense.

Jacobsen now swears Connally took at least $10,000, and says he was lying before to cover for himself and Connally.

Warnings, watches and advisories were posted in all or parts of seven states from Montana to Texas as a result of the storm.

Report Vice Discovered In USDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigators have turned up evidence of gambling and drug peddling in the Agriculture Department and sources say prostitution also may be involved.

Joseph R. Wright Jr., assistant secretary for administration, said Monday that preliminary findings of department investigators on alleged gambling and drug traffic have been turned over to District of Columbia police.

"We had reports of these and we did an investigation," Wright said in response to a newsman's questions. "And it did involve questionable activities which we had to look at. Our final reports haven't been finished, and I haven't heard from the police whether they will be taking any action."

A District police department spokesman declined to comment on the matter. He said it was customary that no comments be made in such cases until they have been cleared for public release.

Wright said he could not comment on rumors that a sex ring has been operating on department premises but indicated those reports were being checked by department investigators.

Other sources, however, said at least one government female employee was being investigated for alleged prostitution and that others may be involved in the inquiry.

The sources said that both department personnel and outsiders may be involved in the vice probe. One official said Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz had not been advised of the investigations.

Two qualified sources speculated that the alleged gambling, drug and sex episodes were "relatively minor" and were not part of an organized crime organization.

Thieu Escapes Attack

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu escaped injury today when a South Vietnamese fighter pilot made a bomb and rocket attack on the presidential palace in Saigon.

Thieu said in a broadcast that the attack was "an act of a group of people aimed at killing me with the intention to change this legal and constitutional regime. I am determined to continue leading this country." But the commander of the air force, Lt. Gen. Tran Van Minh, said it was "an individual act of an air force officer" who "did not realize the danger of such a violent, senseless act."

The pilot, identified as 1st Lt. Nguyen Thanh Trung, flew off, and it was thought he landed in territory held by the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong.

Gen. Minh said the air force is loyal to Thieu. Former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a former commander of the air force and one of the leaders of the political forces in Saigon demanding that Thieu step down, denied that he was involved in the attack.

Other non-Communist opposition leaders denied any involvement in an attempted coup.

Two persons were reported killed and three wounded in the attack. The government ordered a 24-hour curfew in Saigon but lifted it in midafternoon after six hours. The city normally is under curfew from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. each night.

Meanwhile, heavy Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks were reported east and west of Saigon. The closest attack was 20 miles to the east, on the Long Thanh armored school where five soldiers were killed and 28 wounded, the Saigon command said.

Forty-five miles to the east of Saigon a government infantry position repulsed an attack killing nine Viet Cong and losing two government soldiers.

In the Mekong Delta, a thousand-round barrage hit a base camp near Moc Hoa, a provincial capital 50 miles west of Saigon. Five government troops were reported killed. Attacks also were reported on Tuyen Binh, a district town in the area, and the government claimed 24 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

U.S. officials in Washington said there were indications that the Communists would not mount a direct assault on Saigon for the next two or three weeks but instead would press for the ouster of Thieu and a negotiated surrender.

The U.S. Defense Department said 1,500 more U.S. Marines have been moved to the Philippines to provide "backup capability" for the 2,500 Marines aboard U.S. Navy ships off Vietnam. The naval task force has been assembled to evacuate Americans from Saigon if the threat to the city becomes acute. But Pentagon sources said evacuation plans are being made quietly to avoid triggering defeatism that could hasten the country's collapse.

The wife of the British ambassador and 41 other British wives, children and nonessential embassy personnel arrived in Hong Kong en route to London. The embassy staff was reported reduced to seven or eight staff members.

In Cambodia, government forces withstood an all-night attack across the Mekong river from Phnom Penh, and army units four miles north of the city's airport were reported under heavy pressure. The army reduced its forces in two more isolated enclaves — Prey Veng, 30 miles east of Phnom Penh, and Svay Rieng, 25 miles to the southeast — to strengthen the defense of the capital. Heavy fighting was reported in another such enclave, Kompong Speu, 30 mile southwest of Phnom Penh, where the Khmer Rouge have penetrated into the city.

See Compromise Energy Meet

PARIS (AP) — American officials express confidence that a compromise agreement will be reached soon to hold a world energy conference this summer attended by 18 to 30 nations and with limited discussion of raw materials other than oil.

One official said the American delegation to the preparatory meeting that opened in Paris Monday expects the future conference to be "something more than a discussion limited exclusively to energy and something less than a discussion of all raw material problems."

Speeches at Monday's public opening of the preparatory meeting reiterated the opposing positions taken previously by the industrialized nations and the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and other developing nations whose only wealth is in the raw materials they export. But American officials said private contacts with the other delegations, including the militant Algerians, convinced them that a compromise will be worked out on all the procedural issues.

Publicly, representatives of the United States, Japan and the European Economic Community said they wanted the coming conference limited to a discussion of energy and energy-related problems, with participation restricted to a small group of key countries. The oil-exporting countries, with Algeria in the lead, insisted on a general discussion of all raw material problems at a large conference.

Algerian chief delegate Ait Chalaal told a news conference that the three other oil exporters at the preparatory meeting — Saudi Arabia, Iran and Venezuela — and the three other developing countries present — Brazil, India and Zaire—are in full agreement with the Algerian position.

However, the American sources said they consider Chalaal a realist who would accept a compromise avoiding a conference too unwieldy to produce results. And the United States recognizes that the future conference cannot avoid all discussion of raw materials other than oil, the officials added.

The U. S. delegation in effect also repudiated a statement by Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Enders in a British television interview Sunday that the U.S. government is trying to destroy OPEC, the oil cartel which has quadrupled the price of crude oil in the last 18 months.

Traffic Fatalities Rising As Drivers Shun Speed Limit

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic fatalities, which declined 17 per cent in 1974, are climbing again as many Americans return to driving patterns to which they were accustomed before last year's gasoline shortages.

The latest National Safety Council statistics for the first two months of this year show a 6 per cent rise from the same two months in 1974. January marked the first monthly increase from the previous year since October 1973.

There was a dramatic decline in the fatality rate in the early months of 1974 during the gasoline crunch as motorists drove less frequently and slower.

From January to May 1974, traffic fatalities were down 25 per cent from record 1973 levels, and the National Safety Council expected some slippage this year.

"There was a tremendous reduction in miles driven last spring," Ron Kuykendall, a council spokesman, said Monday. "Now, mileage is back to normal, a little bit above 1973 levels. "We also don't have the national trauma we had last spring when we had to wait in long lines for gasoline and service stations were closed on weekends. Then, too, there is not as much emphasis on reducing driving and on reducing speed."

Initial projections of the council predicted the 1975 traffic fatality toll would be a little higher than the 46,200 persons who were killed in 1974. With the most recent statistics, however, Kuykendall said early projections may have to be pushed upward.

If the current increase continues at 6 per cent, about 49,000 persons would be killed in highway accidents this year. In comparison, highway deaths in 1973 totalled 55,800 fatalities.

Kuykendall said he expects the fatality rate to increase at a faster rate in the coming months. But he said if the use of safety harnesses remains at its current level, the monthly fatality rate around mid-summer should be about the same as last year.

That was about the time when motorists began reverting to their old driving habits — using the car more often and paying less heed to the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit, he said.

Food Stamp Benefits To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 18.5 million food stamp users will get a cost-of-living increase in benefits on July 1, according to new calculations by the Agriculture Department.

Stamp benefits for a family of four, for example, will go up about $8 a month from current allowances to reflect a rise in grocery costs since last summer.

Although not yet official, the July 1 food stamp allocation was indicated Monday by the department's computed cost for an "economy" meal plan in February.

The economy meal plan is used by the department in setting food stamp allowances for needy people. The allocation is adjusted twice a year to reflect changes in retail food prices.

The economy food cost in February is used to set July 1 benefits, and its cost next August will determine stamp allocations next Jan. 1.

In February the economy food plan cost a four-member household including two elementary school children an average of $162 per month, the department said.

Thus, the July 1 food stamp allocation for a four-member family will be $162 a month, a 5.2 per cent increase from the $154 a month in effect since the first of the year.

The expected rate of $162 a month for a four-member family will be up $12 a month or 8 per cent from the rate for the second half of 1974, which was set last July 1.

Trapping Bill Faces Opposition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public hearings begin tonight on a bill which the state's top game management expert says would destroy the trapping industry in Ohio.

The bill would outlaw the steel jaw leg-hold trap and require trappers to use either a trap which kills instantly or a trap which leaves animals unharmed.

"This bill would eliminate trapping in Ohio," says Bob Ebersole, game supervisor for the Natural Resources Department.

"The supporters are misleading the people, working on the emotions of the people," he said. "They just don't know what they're talking about." Supporters of the bill, sponsored by Rep. Mike Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, contend the bill would prevent needless torture of animals.

Stinziano has said that opponents of the bill are the ones playing on emotion by trying to characterize a humane trapping bill as a proposal to deviously end trapping.

But Ebersole said present laws protect animals from torture sufficiently, while the proposal is too restrictive.

Ebersole said under present law, the larger, more dangerous traps can be used only in water, where they quickly drown the beaver they are intended to catch.

Smaller traps used on land are gentle enough that an animal usually can be released unharmed, he said. He said state law requires trap lines be checked every 30 hours, so no animal would be left for a slow death in the trap.

"We don't want to see the animals injured either," Ebersole said. "We take all this into consideration."

Ebersole said publicity by supporters appears misleading. He said a favorite advertisement shows a pet cat trapped in a leg-hold trap.

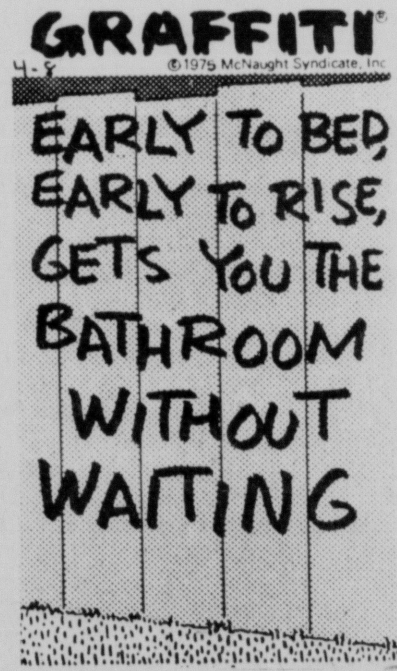

"You look at it, and it's sitting on mowed grass with clover around it—a city lawn. That's not where the trapping takes place," he said.

He said if the bill passes, the wildlife population skyrocket, dooming thousands of animals to lingering death from distemper or mange.

"You've got a tremendous disease reserve here in these numbers are not kept in check," he said.

The hearing tonight, before the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee, is limited to supporters of the bill. Opponents will testify next Tuesday.

Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville, has said he expects hundreds of persons to appear to testify.

Heavy snow and high winds belted the northern Rockies and adjacent Plains today and rain and thunderstorms ranged south to Texas as the second major storm in a week spilled into the midcontinent.

Warnings, watches and advisories were posted in all or parts of seven states from Montana to Texas as a result of the storm.

The storm's predecessor — which buried parts of the Midwest and Northeast under heavy snow last week — remained stalled off southeastern Canada and snow lingered over New England. Four feet of snow has fallen in some mountain areas of Vermont in the last four days.

Thunderstorms roaming the southern half of the Plains spawned tornadoes, high winds, hail and heavy rain.

Four tornadoes spun into Texas on Monday, and two were sighted over Oklahoma. No damage or injuries were reported from the twisters, but strong winds caused minor damage at Durant, Okla., and uprooted trees at New Braunfels and San Marcos, Tex.

Hail the size of softballs hit a rural area near Altus, Okla., and golf-ball-sized hailstones bombarded Ballinger and Sherman, Tex.

Nearly 2½ inches of rain drenched Dallas-Fort Worth through Monday. Arctic air streaming in behind the storm brought record April cold south as far as Arizona. Flagstaff tied the record for its lowest maximum temperature for April when the mercury failed to rise above 28 Monday.

Clear skies were confined to the Pacific Coast and an area from the western Great Lakes to the Middle Atlantic States.

Covert Actions By CIA Curbed?

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Director William E. Colby says much-criticized covert action by the Central Intelligence Agency is less common nowadays and under tighter control.

Covert action is the agency term for secret projects undertaken in an effort to shape another country's political course — ranging up to paramilitary operations by CIA-financed forces.

Critics such as former agent Victor Marchetti contend the CIA operates with little control — and that a strong tendency toward covert action to try to deal with complex situations frequently posed serious political problems for U.S. officials.

See Compromise Energy Meet

PARIS (AP) — American officials express confidence that a compromise agreement will be reached soon to hold a world energy conference this summer attended by 18 to 30 nations and with limited discussion of raw materials other than oil.

One official said the American delegation to the preparatory meeting that opened in Paris Monday expects the future conference to be "something more than a discussion limited exclusively to energy and something less than a discussion of all raw material problems."

Speeches at Monday's public opening of the preparatory meeting reiterated the opposing positions taken previously by the industrialized nations and the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and other developing nations whose only wealth is in the raw materials they export. But American officials said private contacts with the other delegations, including the militant Algerians, convinced them that a compromise will be worked out on all the procedural issues.

However, the American sources said they consider Chalaal a realist who would accept a compromise avoiding a conference too unwieldy to produce results. And the United States recognizes that the future conference cannot avoid all discussion of raw

Traffic Fatalities Rising As Drivers Shun Speed Limit

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic fatalities, which declined 17 per cent in 1974, are climbing again as many Americans return to driving patterns to which they were accustomed before last year's gasoline shortages.

The latest National Safety Council statistics for the first two months of this year show a 6 per cent rise from the same two months in 1974. January marked the first monthly increase from the previous year since October 1973.

There was a dramatic decline in the fatality rate in the early months of 1974 during the gasoline crunch as motorists drove less frequently and slower.

From January to May 1974, traffic fatalities were down 25 per cent from record 1973 levels, and the National Safety Council expected some slippage this year.

"There was a tremendous reduction in miles driven last spring," Ron Kuykendall, a council spokesman, said Monday. "Now, mileage is back to normal, a little bit above 1973 levels. 'We also don't have the national trauma we had last spring when we had to wait in long lines for gasoline and service stations were closed on weekends. Then, too, there is not as much emphasis on reducing driving and on reducing speed.'"

Initial projections of the council predicted the 1975 traffic fatality toll would be a little higher than the 46,200 persons who were killed in 1974. With the most recent statistics, however, Kuykendall said early projections may have to be pushed upward.

If the current increase continues at 6 per cent, about 49,000 persons would be killed in highway accidents this year. In comparison, highway deaths in 1973 totalled 55,800 fatalities.

Kuykendall said he expects the fatality rate to increase at a faster rate in the coming months. But he said if the use of safety harnesses remains at its current level, the monthly fatality rate around mid-summer should be about the same as last year.

That was about the time when motorists began reverting to their old driving habits — using the car more often and paying less heed to the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit, he said.

Food Stamp Benefits To Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 18.5 million food stamp users will get a cost-of-living increase in benefits on July 1, according to new calculations by the Agriculture Department.

Stamp benefits for a family of four, for example, will go up about $8 a month from current allowances to reflect a rise in grocery costs since last summer.

Although not yet official, the July 1 food stamp allocation was indicated Monday by the department's computed cost for an "economy" meal plan in February.

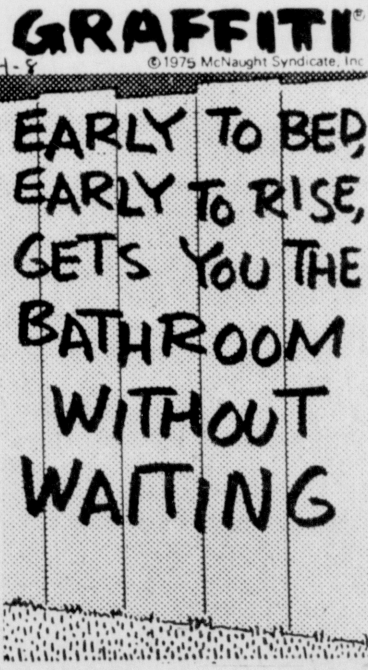

The economy meal plan is used by the department in setting food stamp allowances for needy people. The allocation is adjusted twice a year to reflect changes in retail food prices.

The economy food cost in February is used to set July 1 benefits, and its cost next August will determine stamp allocations next Jan. 1.

In February the economy food plan cost a four-member household including two elementary school children an average of $162 per month, the department said.

Thus, the July 1 food stamp allocation for a four-member family will be $162 a month, a 5.2 per cent increase from the $154 a month in effect since the first of the year.

The expected rate of $162 a month for a four-member family will be up $12 a month or 8 per cent from the rate for the second half of 1974, which was set last July 1.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market swung upward today in a moderate technical rally abetted by signs of strength in the bond market.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.40 at 748.28 as the market tried to break a chain of six consecutive losses. Gainers led losers by about a 3-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that a primary concern of investors the past few days had been the future course of interest rates. A rally in bonds this morning evidently eased fears that rates might be heading into a new upsurge.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .27 to 78.98.

Pasco climbed 2 1/2 to 23 1/2 on top of a 2 1/2-point gain Monday on news of a $220 million cash offer of Standard Oil of Indiana for Pasco's oil producing properties in Wyoming. Indiana standard was up 1/2 today at 38 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index was up .27 at 42.96.

Americans See Indochina Lost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many members of the House and the Senate say they found a feeling among constituents during the Easter recess that Cambodia and South Vietnam are lost and that any new U.S. military aid would be wasted.

But some of the lawmakers, while reporting the views of their constituents, were more cautious about describing their own sentiments and future actions. Some said they would wait until President Ford delivers his foreign policy address Thursday night.

Rep. Tom Steed, R-Okla., said: "It seems to me it's just like the folks down home said: 'It's all over but the shouting.'"

Steed, until now a staunch supporter of U.S. aid for Indochina, said he won't vote for any more.

Referring to voter sentiment, Sen. Frank L. Moss, D-Utah, said: "They're saying no, a loud, loud no."

Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., a supporter of U.S. aid, harshly criticized the South Vietnamese forces' collapse.

Montgomery said he would vote more military aid "if they've got a halfway chance" but said of his constituents: "Most of them said don't give them any more money unless they stand and fight."

However, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan said congressional failure to support South Vietnam is "the most irresponsible action of the Congress of the United States in the last 100 years of our history."

Speaking in a London television interview, Reagan said the "United States should continue to support its pledge to support the South Vietnamese and Cambodia." Meanwhile, there were these developments:

—President Ford, who returned to Washington Monday night after a nine-day West Coast vacation, has directed the National Security Council to meet today to assess the situation in Vietnam.

—U.S. officials say there are indications that the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong will not directly assault Saigon in the near future but instead will press for the ouster of the Thieu regime and a negotiated settlement.

—U.S. preparations to evacuate Americans from South Vietnam continued quietly to avoid triggering defeatism that could hasten Vietnam's collapse. There are more than 5,000 Americans in South Vietnam.

—A Marine battalion of about 1,500 men has been moved to a U.S. naval base in the Philippines to be ready for use if needed in any evacuation. This brings to about 4,000 the number of Marines stationed within a few days' sailing time of South Vietnam and Cambodia.

—The evacuation of orphans will continue, but in smaller groups, South Vietnamese officials said. Almost 2,000 children already have been sent to the United States, Britain, Australia and Canada.

Vietnam Evacuation Delayed

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — The Long Island newspaper Newsday said in today's editions that the Ford administration has delayed a plan to evacuate as many as 150,000 South Vietnamese for fear of triggering a wave of panic in Saigon.

"If we wait much longer it would be too late, but if we move now it could kill any chance that the South Vietnamese Army could hold off the North Vietnamese for a while longer," the newspaper quoted a U.S. official as saying.

South Vietnamese believed by U.S. officials to be marked for reprisals by the North Vietnamese would be selected for the evacuation, Newsday said.

2 Charges Filed In Wreck

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies charged 37-year-old Herman E. Diltz, Orient, with driving while intoxicated and reckless operation when he was involved in a two-car accident, 4:25 p.m. Monday.

According to the report taken by Deputies J. Philip Brown and James Fite, Diltz was southbound on Route 23 when he passed a tractor also traveling south on the 4-lane highway.

The Diltz auto traveled off the right berm striking a road sign and veered back onto the roadway striking a vehicle driven by Margaret E. Hall, 55, Route 1, Chillicothe.

Both vehicles came to a halt in the median strip.

Ms. Hall was treated and released at Berger Hospital for back and neck injuries.

Whalen Raps Trade Link To Emigration

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Completing a trip through Eastern Europe, U.S. Rep. Charles W. Whalen said Monday Congress should not have tried to tie trade laws to freer emigration of Jews.

Coupling most-favored nation trade treatment with emigration of Jews "marked a clear intrusion into other countries' internal affairs," Whalen said, and aggravated the issue through "a narrow nationalistic approach adopted without regard to repercussions."

The Soviet-bloc countries rejected the entire trade act.

"The majority of Congress still believe they have done the right thing. I don't feel so, especially after this swing through Eastern Europe," Whalen said.

He and Jonathan B. Bingham, D-NY, and Edward G. Biester, R-Pa., visited Moscow, Warsaw and Prague. Bingham flew home after his wife had a small accident and Biester went to Bucharest.

Whalen flew to Budapest to meet with Hungarian Foreign Minister Frigyes Pujar for the last stop on his trip.

Whalen said it was possible to change the trade bill but he didn't expect immediate action because "the sense of urgency has gone in Congress."

Accident Correction

In the report on the pedestrian-truck accident, which occurred 12:25 p.m. Saturday, it was inadvertently printed in Monday's edition of The Herald that Judy Schwalbaugh, Route 1, walked into the path of a truck driven by David G. Thornton, 23, 116 Gale Court.

The incomplete report by Deputy James Fite was misinterpreted and had the child being struck by the truck.

The youth got out of her parked vehicle and began to walk behind it and walked into the side of Thornton's vehicle.

She was treated and released from Berger Hospital for a broken leg and lacerations.

Vietnam Evacuation Delayed

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — The Long Island newspaper Newsday said in today's editions that the Ford administration has delayed a plan to evacuate as many as 150,000 South Vietnamese for fear of triggering a wave of panic in Saigon.

"If we wait much longer it would be too late, but if we move now it could kill any chance that the South Vietnamese Army could hold off the North Vietnamese for a while longer," the newspaper quoted a U.S. official as saying.

South Vietnamese believed by U.S. officials to be marked for reprisals by the North Vietnamese would be selected for the evacuation, Newsday said.

Pickaway Farmers Union Chartered; Elects Officers

The state president of Ohio Farmers Union, Jack Rose, presented Willard England newly elected president of the Pickaway County chapter, with the charter April 1.

The presentation was made during a joint meeting with the Ross county chapter at Pickaway-Ross Vocational School.

Charles Nash, executive secretary, and Victor Ray, assistant to Tony Dechart, National president, were also present.

Officers elected for the Pickaway County Chapter were: England; Eugene Patrick, vice president; Joanne Patrick, secretary-treasurer. These officers were elected by Pickaway members and they will appoint members to serve on the remaining offices of the Farmers Union executive team. Officers will locate a meeting place accessible to all members in the county.

England introduced Ray who spoke on some problems facing the farmer of today. He also gave a history of the organization, noting that it was formed in 1902 in Texas.

Ray told the members of the two organizations that farmers cannot go on producing food with fluctuating prices. He said the emergency farm bill passed by the house of representatives is not good enough to meet expenses farmers have today. According to Ray, one of the biggest problems with farm bills is they are decided by a small number of people who are usually not familiar with the farmer's problems. Another problem is that farmers do not unite but he added this is changing because of the cost squeeze the farmer is experiencing today. Thirty-three farm organizations have banded together seeking a 10 per cent reduction in the acres planted to grain.

The Farmers Union has asked the importation of beef into the United States be stopped until the American farmer is making a fair profit on cattle produced here.

He also warned the members against all-out production the government is seeking. A good growing season could cause prices to tumble and bankrupt many farmers.

The Farmers Union feels a fair price would be $4.45 per bushel for wheat, $2.69 per bushel for corn, and $6.64 per bushel for soybeans. Farmers who would like to sign petitions for the 10 per cent cutback or who would like to join the farmers union may do so by contacting Willard England or Eugene and Joanne Patrick.

The Pickaway County Farmers Union has a Blue Cross-Blue Shield Major Medical Policy available for members. To be eligible, a person must be a member and attend at least four meetings per year.

$16 Million In Subsidies For Wool Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hefty drop in the price of wool will mean about $16 million in federal subsidies to sheep producers for wool they sold in 1974, according to the Agriculture Department.

Under a 1954 law, the government is required to pay growers "incentive" subsidies when market prices for wool drop below a fixed level. A spokesman said Monday the payments will be made "very shortly" to producers.

Officials said the $16 million in payments stem from a market price average of 59.1 cents per pound received for shorn wool last year. The payments will make up the difference between the market price and the 1974 incentive price of 72 cents per pound.

The payment rate for unshorn wool which is "pulled" at packing plants when lambs are sold for the slaughter market will be computed at a rate of 52 cents per 100 pounds of the liveweight of such animals sold by farmers last year.

Last year, for wool sold in 1973, no federal payments were made because producer prices were higher than the government's incentive price level. It was the first time in the 20-year history of the program that payments were skipped.

The payments totaled $65 million for wool sold in 1972, and had climbed to a record $103 million for 1971 wool when market prices averaged 35 cents a pound.

Officials said producers of mohair clipped from goats will not get payments for 1974 output. Market prices for mohair, the department said, averaged $1.37 per pound, well above the government's mohair incentive level of 80.2 cents.

Ethel Kennedy Pays $30 Fine

PLYMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, pleaded guilty by waiver today in Plymouth District Court to speeding charges.

Mrs. Kennedy and her family, who live in McLean, Va., were in the state skiing at the time she was charged with speeding.

Assembly May Help Honeybees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's legislature is being asked to come to the rescue of an army of workers who contribute heavily to the state's economy without pay—the honeybees.

Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, has as his main purpose in his honeybee bill the encouragement of honey sales and a ban on misleading advertising and labeling. The state's nearly 9,000 registered beekeepers who don't want their product adulterated are pushing the move.

At hearings before the House Agriculture and Conservation Committee, Locker's bill drew impressive support from others as well, including a spokesman for Ohio State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

South Central Names Addition To PR Staff

THEODORE STEVENSON

Theodore Stevenson, a 25-year employee of the South Central Power Company, has been promoted to the position of field representative in the public relations department, according to Dane Swinehart, general manager of the locally-owned power company.

Stevenson started his career in June of 1969, when he was employed as a groundman by the Ohio Midland Light & Power Company, a South Central subsidiary. He moved from groundman to lineman and meter reader before his most recent promotion.

Stevenson, known as "Ted", his wife, Mar-Jean, and daughter Kim, live at 68 Elizabeth Street in Canal Winchester, Ohio. Another daughter, Tina, lives in Florida and another, Teresa resides in Columbus.

The Stevensons are members of St. Edwards Episcopal Church in Whitehall.

"There's no question about the value of a strong honey market as a key part of the state's agricultural economy," said OSU's Lawrence J. Connor in testifying in support of the bill.

He explained that bees, the only source of true honey, are vitally needed to pollinate virtually every type of fruit tree along with numerous other crops.

"Vine crops, including cucumbers, won't develop if they are not pollinated, and we find that it's the honeybee that's doing the work," said the OSU researcher.

The types of mislabeled products that resulted in Locker's bill include syrups and others that have words such as "honey-flavored" or "imitation honey" on their labels.

"Let them call their 'golden glow' or whatever they want to call it," said Charles Richard Osborne, a beekeeping hobbyist who came from Middletown to support the bill.

Winston Dunham, a commercial beekeeper who owns Deer Creek Honey Farms, warned that the honeybee is about the only pollinating insect left.

"Many other insects under our system of agriculture and because of pesticides have become extinct," he said.

He estimated that 80 per cent of all pollination is done by the honeybees "who work for free. The incentive in keeping them is obvious."

The committee looked at some products that apparently would be banned by Locker's bill. They included one imitation honey containing mostly corn syrup and a brand of "Maple Honey-flavored Syrup" which listed its honey content in fine print at about 3 per cent.

Locker's bill prohibits the sale of any product that is "in the semblance of honey, and labeled, advertised or otherwise represented to be honey if it is not honey."

It also prohibits the use of the word "honey" as part of its name.

Violators would be guilty of a second degree misdemeanor punishable by up to 90 days in jail.

Crime Is The Challenger

With little warning, the FBI's 1974 crime statistics have hit the nation with a thud. The cold figures are bad enough. Serious crimes nationally up 17 per cent. Serious crimes in rural areas up 21 per cent. Violent crimes like murder and rape up more than 5 per cent.

But behind each crime statistic is at least one victim. And the worst part of the continuing crime wave in the United States is that many of those victims are providing practice for repeaters to try again.

Never mind the economic or social reasons for crime. It is the repeater who is burgeoning the statistics, repeatedly flowing through a revolving door of justice — with very little detour — and back to the streets to begin the cycle again.

The story has been told so often it hardly needs repeating. Overcrowded courts and prosecutors with more cases brought to them by the police than they can handle look for shortcuts. The goal has become one of relieving the backlog rather than meting out justice.

Plea bargaining is the major sieve through which the case backlog is relieved. Have the defendant cop a lesser plea — even when the evidence to convict on a major crime is overwhelming, sentence him to a light prison term or only probation and another case has been removed from the docket. All in a matter of minutes, rather than the weeks it might take to go to trial.

That is not a system of justice, it is an excuse for one. Ironically, the more it is used, the higher the crime rate will go. Criminals, especially the repeaters, are using the system to further their depredations against society.

It is a safe bet that when FBI crime statistics for 1975 are released this time next year they will show similar increases. Unless, and only unless, the public tells its courts and prosecutors to crack down hard consistently and with justice — not backlogs — in mind.

Do that for one year and the backlog will take care of itself. The criminal who has found preying on society an easy street suddenly will find himself removed from the temptation and behind bars for a lengthy stay to think things over.

He will get the message very clearly. More important, thousands of his criminal counterparts quickly will receive the signal that they, for the first time, could be asking for a similar fate. It is one certain way to reduce the ranks of the repeaters on the streets looking for their next victims.

If anyone knows another way to bring down the crime rate the Justice Department in Washington would like to hear from him.

My 7-year-old boy constantly gets strep throats. I am concerned about the possibility that he will develop rheumatic fever. I had it as a child.

Mr. K. J., Ind.

Dear Mr. J.: There has been a very definite decrease in the frequency and severity of rheumatic fever since the advent of the antibiotics.

These have also decreased the frequency of the heart complication caused by rheumatic fever.

The streptococcus germ responsible for rheumatic fever is very sensitive to many antibiotics.

Years ago, the "strep" throat was a source of terror. Today, the germ is recognized early by culture and treated intensively. The result of such treatment was pointed up by a well-documented study of rheumatic fever.

I might have a stroke.

Mr. N.M., N.Y.

Dear Mr. M.: It is not uncommon for people who hear noises in their head to be frightened. This condition is known as "tinnitus." The noises seem to get worse and louder with fatigue and emotional tension. In a quiet room, especially during the night when anxieties seem to increase, the noises seem more pronounced.

Many people with tinnitus falsely believe that they are going to have a stroke, become deaf, or even have a brain tumor. None of these fears are justified. They can be eased by the doctor who, after a complete examination, may pinpoint the cause.

In the elderly, slight narrowing of the blood vessels may be responsible. There are also a great many simple conditions in the ears which may produce temporary tinnitus.

Some drugs are available for the relief of tinnitus. Mostly, however, reassurance will go a long way towards minimizing the discomfort.

Vague Beginning

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS — For a city that is so bright, carefree and confident, this was a very old and conservative oasis. There are indications that the earliest Spanish explorers found wells, and thus sustenance, here. Nobody knows who gave it its name, which means "The Meadows." It was a welcome green spot along the old Spanish trail that meandered through some of the most hostile terrain on earth.

Col. John C. Fremont, the great explorer of the West, paused here in 1844, and eventually there was a street named for him — now ablaze night and day with hotels, stores, and gambling halls. It is, among other claims to fame, the street that has the highest density of man's least invention, the penny slot machine. There are 665 of them in town.

In the early 1850s, the Mormon church won a Federal contract to carry the mail from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City. Brigham Young was delighted. He sent 30 of his most rugged disciples from Salt Lake City to Las Vegas to build a fort that might protect the mail-carrying stagecoaches, and also to teach agriculture to the Indians and convert them to the Mormon faith.

It had no accepted name when the Mormons arrived a century and a quarter ago, so it was called Bringham, after the leader of the courageous settlers. (There is another Las Vegas in New Mexico.)

The Mormons and their Indian tenant farmers made the desert bloom, but faced the logistic problem of marketing their vegetables and fruit. Looking around the area for possible profit they found an ore load but soon abandoned it because the bullets they made from the metal were "flaky and brittle." They never appreciated or understood that the bullets crumbled on contact because they were largely pure silver. (Three years later the most famous silver strike in the country's history, the Comstock Lode, began to yield its bounty.)

The Mormons went back to Utah in the late 1850s, and Bringham became a ghost settlement. But 75 years ago, surveyors for the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, resuscitated Las Vegas, and it became the major division point of the line (which later became the Union Pacific Railroad).

The railroad connection made it a boom town, an investment opportunity that brought pioneers in droves. The railroad one day conducted a real estate auction during which 1,200 lots were sold for a whopping $265,000.

From that day forward, Las Vegas was to be known as a town that never sleeps, the place where you could buy anything at any time, where its denizens could win a fortune at cards, dice, faro and roulette — or go bust forever more.

The city's greatest boons since then have been a mixed group, to put it mildly. It includes a bunch of Los Angeles investors who built the El Rancho Vegas on Route 90, out of town. The wide open place became the cornerstone of what long since has been named "The Strip," probably the best-known three miles of thoroughfare in the world. Bugsy Siegel, with the help of Del Webb, built the even more pretentious Flamingo with Mob money, and was "hit" for spending too much.

Before that, there was Uncle Sam, who moved into the area to build Hoover Dam, against which the superb Lake Mead is backed up. And then the little Las Vegas army airfield was expanded by war and jet development into Nellis Air Force Base, the largest in the free world.

Still another boost to the economy came from the Atomic Energy Commission, which chose such nearby wastes as Jackass Flats and Yucca Flat to test its A-bombs. And, finally and most traumatically, Howard Hughes.

"The entertainment capital of the world," which now has a population of more than 300,000, attracted 8,664,751 visitors during 1974, the year of the great recession and transportation difficulties. Tourists and conventioners spent nearly $2 billion in town, and that figure doesn't take into account their gambling, thus depriving the reader of the vital knowledge of how much the city, county, state and Federal government made out of those 665 penny slots.

Warren Commission Member Sees Public Forum For Foes

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Critics of the Warren Commission investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy some day are going to have to be afforded a public forum, a former Warren Commission member believes.

But Burt W. Griffin, now a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge, makes it clear he's never seen or heard of any evidence to suggest the Warren report overlooked any important points.

"It has nothing to do with my belief that they're right or wrong," he says of the commission's critics. "It's a matter of public importance.

"There ought to be a public forum where their points can be cross-examined, where the Warren Commission's own evidence can be openly looked at," he said.

Griffin, a former assistant attorney general, adds that considering what he calls the erosion of public confidence in government during the last 10 years, airing details of the investigation might not be a bad idea.

Griffin objected to his opinions as they are reprinted in Rolling Stone magazine, in an edition which goes on sale Tuesday. The magazine article suggested Griffin felt the investigation needed to be reopened.

"There's no question in my mind that we were right that Lee Harvey Oswald was the assassin, indeed the only person firing at President Kennedy and that he fired from where we said he fired from," Griffin said.

The judge said the magazine was correct that he wrote a memo in August 1964 to the director of the Warren Commission, J. Lee Rankin, laying out several evidentiary questions that he believed required answers. Griffin said he received replies to two or three.

Griffin denied he told the magazine the FBI was less than candid with the commission but acknowledged he believes the commission never got the full truth from Dallas police about how Jack Ruby got into the basement of Dallas city hall to shoot Lee Harvey Oswald.

"They goofed and didn't want anybody to get fired," he said.

A Page Of Opinion

Crime Is The Challenger

With little warning, the FBI's 1974 crime statistics have hit the nation with a thud. The cold figures are bad enough. Serious crimes nationally up 17 per cent. Serious crimes in rural areas up 21 per cent. Violent crimes like murder and rape up more than 5 per cent.

But behind each crime statistic is at least one victim. And the worst part of the continuing crime wave in the United States is that many of those victims are providing practice for repeaters to try again.

Never mind the economic or social reasons for crime. It is the repeater who is burgeoning the statistics, repeatedly flowing through a revolving door of justice — with very little detour — and back to the streets to begin the cycle again.

The story has been told so often it hardly needs repeating. Overcrowded courts and prosecutors with more cases brought to them by the police than they can handle look for shortcuts. The goal has become one of relieving the backlog rather than meting out justice.

Plea bargaining is the major sieve through which the case backlog is relieved. Have the defendant cop a lesser plea — even when the evidence to convict on a major crime is overwhelming, sentence him to a light prison term or only probation and another case has been removed from the docket. All in a matter of minutes, rather than the weeks it might take to go to trial.

That is not a system of justice, it is an excuse for one. Ironically, the more it is used, the higher the crime rate will go. Criminals, especially the repeaters, are using the system to further their depredations against society.

It is a safe bet that when FBI crime statistics for 1975 are released this time next year they will show similar increases. Unless, and only unless, the public tells its courts and prosecutors to crack down hard consistently and with justice — not backlogs — in mind.

Do that for one year and the backlog will take care of itself. The criminal who has found preying on society an easy street suddenly will find himself removed from the temptation and behind bars for a lengthy stay to think things over.

He will get the message very clearly. More important, thousands of his criminal counterparts quickly will receive the signal that they, for the first time, could be asking for a similar fate. It is one certain way to reduce the ranks of the repeaters on the streets looking for their next victims.

If anyone knows another way to bring down the crime rate the Justice Department in Washington would like to hear from him.

Temperatures today in Ohio were expected to moderate slowly.

Highs were forecast from the mid 40s northeast to the mid and upper 50s along the Ohio River, with about the same range expected Wednesday.

Low temperatures tonight were expected to drop into the 20s and low 30s.

A large high pressure ridge continued from Hudson Bay southward across the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. There was also an extensive area of low pressure in the Plains that spread rain eastward to the Mississippi Valley, but chances are slim that rains will invade Ohio during the next few days.

Increasing cloudiness was anticipated, however.

High temperatures Monday ranged from 38 degrees at Cleveland's Lakefront Airport to 54 degrees at Cincinnati.

Early this morning, temperatures were mostly in the 20s. However, the temperature at Cleveland Hopkins Airport dipped to 19 degrees, setting a record for this date. The previous record was 22 degrees in 1972.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Tickling Fetish: No Laughing Matter

DEAR ABBY: Ned and I have been married for seven years, and we have one child. Our marriage is far from perfect, but it's a lot better than most.

My biggest problem is that Ned loves to tickle me. Now, please don't laugh, Abby, because it's not funny. I mean, Ned holds me down, and tickles my ribs and the bottoms of my feet until I am screaming and nearly hysterical.

Ned also likes to tickle our little girl, and she doesn't like it either.

I've begged Ned to stop this tickling business, but he insists that it's all in fun—that people enjoy laughing, so I shouldn't get angry with him.

What is your opinion?

TICKLED (NEARLY TO DEATH)

DEAR TICKLED: Ned may not know it, but "tickling" is an ancient form of torture. If he continues to tickle you, knowing that you dislike it, he is being intentionally sadistic.

Tickling one beyond his ability to tolerate it may appear to be "harmless" game-all in fun-but in reality it's downright cruel.

DEAR ABBY: My husband left me three years ago. At first I thought he would come back, but he never did. I was seven months pregnant at the time.

He just took off, and I never heard from him again. To tell you the truth, I don't even know if he's living or dead. And I wouldn't have the foggiest notion of where to look for him.

Now for my big problem: I met a guy who loves me, and wants to marry me and adopt my child. I want to marry him, but how can I get married when I am not even divorced?

All the lawyers around here talk double talk. Isn't there a mail-order divorce I can send for?

OUT IN THE BOONDOCKS

DEAR OUT: Sorry, a mail-order divorce wouldn't be worth the paper it was printed on, so forget it. Look around for a lawyer who talks single, if you want to BE single, which is absolutely necessary before you can get married again.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are going to be married this June. She will graduate from high school the end of

May. We would like to know if it would be proper to send graduation and wedding announcements in the same envelope? It would save time and money.

And can we kill two birds with one stone and send one thank-you note for graduation and wedding gifts?

WONDERING IN N.W.

DEAR WONDERING: The graduation and wedding announcements should be sent separately. And so should the thank-you notes.

DEAR ABBY: Student, Henry County Sr. High, McDonough, Ga. wrote: "I have learned to love according to character not color."

If the late Martin Luther King Jr. (himself a Georgian) were alive today, he would have been proud. For he once said: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character."

Math Plans Under Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus schools want to get away from the new math but not back to the old math.

"We're trying to hold the middle of the road in teaching math skills to students," said Earl Tharp, math supervisor for Columbus schools.

The Board of Education expects to pass Tuesday on a recommendation for new seventh and eighth grade textbooks.

A committee of teachers studying math books has suggested adoption of a text combining old and new math methods.

Tharp said the new math had been used almost exclusively until 1972, when a new text was adopted for third and fourth graders as part of a total restructuring of the math curriculum.

"We had just gone too far (with the new math)," said Tharp.

Keep America beautiful, but keep America alive!

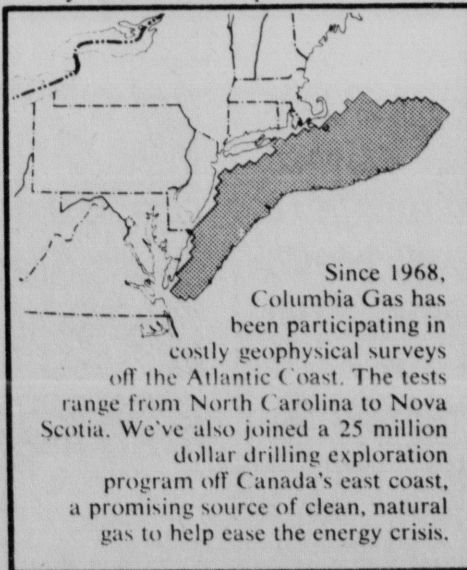

Some of America's most beautiful resort areas lie along the Atlantic Coast. And no one wants to mar their beauty. It's much too valuable a natural resource.

But, there's another tremendously valuable natural resource over the horizon along the Atlantic Coast. Energy. Energy that is desperately needed to help ease our nation's worsening energy crisis.

We must not sacrifice one resource for the other.

And we needn't. Modern techniques for under-water drilling and delivery of fuel have eliminated the danger of permanent environmental damage. An offshore drilling rig won't even be seen from the shore. And offshore production will reduce the need for increased tanker traffic.

All domestic sources of energy must be developed to meet our growing national fuel needs. The potential of the Atlantic outer continental shelf is great and can be realized in an environmentally safe manner. The Atlantic coast areas depend on a prosperous America. And a prosperous America depends on energy.

Since 1968, Columbia Gas has been participating in costly geophysical surveys off the Atlantic Coast. The tests range from North Carolina to Nova Scotia. We've also joined a 25 million dollar drilling exploration program off Canada's east coast, a promising source of clean, natural gas to help ease the energy crisis.

1975 Senior Class To Present 'Lights Out'

By Theresa Conley

The senior class play, "Lights Out", will be staged April 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Westfall auditorium under the direction of Mrs. Jennifer Talbott.

Members of the cast and the characters they portray are: Cheryl Graham as Agnes Harwood; Cindy Hamman as Doris Harwood; Rex Hix as Carl Emerson; Theresa Conley as Vicky Wayne; Lynn Stillings as Helen Freeland; Harry Canter as John Bates; Norma Lee Rowland as Susan Bates; Doug Williams as Neil Parker; Kevin Miller as William Patterson Vaugh; Connie Drummond as Ella Tucker and Jeff Davis as Benny King.

A pleasant house party and a possible buyer for the old Stilwell estate. That was all Agnes Harwood had expected when she invited several acquaintances for a week end at the mansion. But what a night of thrills and chills lay ahead for both guests and hostess! A night filled with creeping figures, ghostly threats and a strange voice in the dark.

Temperatures today in Ohio were expected to moderate slowly.

Highs were forecast from the mid 40s northeast to the mid and upper 50s along the Ohio River, with about the same range expected Wednesday.

Low temperatures tonight were expected to drop into the 20s and low 30s.

A large high pressure ridge continued from Hudson Bay southward across the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley. There was also an extensive area of low pressure in the Plains that spread rain eastward to the Mississippi Valley, but chances are slim that rains will invade Ohio during the next few days.

Increasing cloudiness was anticipated, however.

High temperatures Monday ranged from 38 degrees at Cleveland's Lakefront Airport to 54 degrees at Cincinnati.

Early this morning, temperatures were mostly in the 20s. However, the temperature at Cleveland Hopkins Airport dipped to 19 degrees, setting a record for this date. The previous record was 22 degrees in 1972.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Tickling Fetish: No Laughing Matter

DEAR ABBY: Ned and I have been married for seven years, and we have one child. Our marriage is far from perfect, but it's a lot better than most.

My biggest problem is that Ned loves to tickle me. Now, please don't laugh, Abby, because it's not funny. I mean, Ned holds me down, and tickles my ribs and the bottoms of my feet until I am screaming and nearly hysterical.

Ned also likes to tickle our little girl, and she doesn't like it either.

I've begged Ned to stop this tickling business, but he insists that it's all in fun—that people enjoy laughing, so I shouldn't get angry with him.

What is your opinion?

TICKLED (NEARLY TO DEATH)

DEAR TICKLED: Ned may not know it, but "tickling" is an ancient form of torture. If he continues to tickle you, knowing that you dislike it, he is being intentionally sadistic.

Tickling one beyond his ability to tolerate it may appear to be "harmless" game-all in fun-but in reality it's downright cruel.

DEAR ABBY: My husband left me three years ago. At first I thought he would come back, but he never did. I was seven months pregnant at the time.

He just took off, and I never heard from him again. To tell you the truth, I don't even know if he's living or dead. And I wouldn't have the foggiest notion of where to look for him.

Now for my big problem: I met a guy who loves me, and wants to marry me and adopt my child. I want to marry him, but how can I get married when I am not even divorced?

All the lawyers around here talk double talk. Isn't there a mail-order divorce I can send for?

OUT IN THE BOONDOCKS

DEAR OUT: Sorry, a mail-order divorce wouldn't be worth the paper it was printed on, so forget it. Look around for a lawyer who talks single, if you want to BE single, which is absolutely necessary before you can get married again.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are going to be married this June. She will graduate from high school the end of

May. We would like to know if it would be proper to send graduation and wedding announcements in the same envelope? It would save time and money.

And can we kill two birds with one stone and send one thank-you note for graduation and wedding gifts?

WONDERING IN N.W.

DEAR WONDERING: The graduation and wedding announcements should be sent separately. And so should the thank-you notes.

DEAR ABBY: Student, Henry County Sr. High, McDonough, Ga. wrote: "I have learned to love according to character not color."

If the late Martin Luther King Jr. (himself a Georgian) were alive today, he would have been proud. For he once said: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character."

Solons Set Vote On Bonding Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives were to vote today on a bill designed to eliminate so-called "double bonding" and needless paperwork now required under Ohio's coal strip mine laws.

Rep. Arthur Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, and other sponsors said the measure will provide more efficient administration and enforcement. It not only would ease reporting requirements by strip mine operators, but also facilitate their handling by the state Division of Reclamation, he said. Eliminated, Bowers said, would be a practice of two bonds sometimes being required on the same acreage to guarantee restoration.

The Senate returned from the legislature's week-long spring vacation Monday night and approved two bills—one of which allows election board to retain interpreters for non-English speaking voters. It is aimed primarily at those agricultural counties with heavy registrations of mostly Spanish-speaking voters, said Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin.

Returning for a morning session today, opening its deliberations for the week, the House, besides the strip mine bill, also plan floor action on three others.

They would beef up the powers of the attorney general to regulate charitable trusts such as those operating under the terms of a will, prohibit deductions from unemployment compensation based on a claimant's pension benefits, and require amber colored flashing lights on vehicles that transport preschool children.

Aside from the voters' interpreters bill, the Senate voted 22-2 to exempt sales by Ohio's national centennial groups from the state sales tax until the 1976 celebration ends a year from next Dec. 31.

Sen. Robert T. Secrest, D-20 Cambridge, a sponsor of the bill which now goes to the House, said it would benefit local groups and others seeking to raise money for the nation's 200th birthday celebration through the sale of locally produced memorabilia.

In other developments, the Senate Rules Committee scheduled floor votes today on measures permitting tuberculosis patients to be treated in nursing and rest homes, under certain conditions, and expanding memberships on county data processing boards to include recorders, court clerks, and sheriffs.

Introduced at Monday night's Senate session were bills permitting state employees to accumulate and use personal leave, and allowing the same employees to opt among various kinds of health insurance available to them.

Senators received and took under advisement the appointment by Gov. James A. Rhodes of Dr. Timothy B. Moritz as director of the state Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Harrison Emergency Squad Recertified

RECERTIFIED—Donald Coffin, left, certification officer for the Ohio Department of Health and Jim Deal, right, Harrison Squadman, place the State Recertification emblem on the Harrison Squad.

Dr. John H. Ackerman, Director of the Ohio Department of Health, announced that the Harrison Township Fire Department located at Ashville, was recently awarded State Recertification of their emergency ambulance system.

The Department's Emergency Medical Services Coordination Program is conducting a voluntary certification program for emergency ambulance services.

In order to qualify for this certification, an Emergency Ambulance Service must meet certain EMS program requirements set by the Department of Health.

This was in accordance with the National Highway Safety Act of 1966 which requires states to develop laws regulating emergency ambulance services.

According to Dr. Ackerman, the Department's purpose is to upgrade emergency service through a voluntary program.

Donald Coffin, EMS Certification Officer for the Ohio Department of Health, said the program gives ambulance services throughout Ohio the opportunity to upgrade services and correct deficiencies so that they will be in compliance with national standards.

The Harrison Township Fire Department has been providing the Emergency Medical Service for Harrison, Madison, and Walnut townships since June of 1973.

'Chinatown' Among Favorites For Academy Award Victories

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Chinatown," a detective story set in Los Angeles in the '30s, is favored as the star tonight at the 47th annual Academy Awards.

A consensus of predictions gave the nod to the box office hit as favorite for best picture over "The Godfather, Part II," "The Towering Inferno," "Lenny" and "The Conversation."

Jack Nicholson, who played the puzzled detective in "Chinatown," was the favorite for winner the Oscar for best actor.

His rivals include Al Pacino for "Godfather-II"; Art Carney for "Harry and Tonto"; Albert Finney, "Murder on the Orient Express"; and Dustin Hoffman, who played the title role in "Lenny."

Faye Dunaway, the tragic heroine of "Chinatown," was afforded a good chance to win as best actress if a sweep for the film develops.

Otherwise, the best actress Oscar looks like a toss-up between Gena Rowlands of "A Woman Under the Influence" and Ellen Burstyn for "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore."

Other nominees for best actress are Diahann Carroll for "Claudine" and Valerie Perrine for "Lenny."

Many seemed to think — or hope — that old, faithful Fred Astaire would be chosen as best supporting actor for his role in "Towering Inferno."

The Oscar for supporting actress was more difficult to predict. The favorite seemed to be Valentina Cortese for "Day for Night," with Ingrid Bergman as sentimental choice for "Orient Express."

Howard Koch, who is producing the Oscars show, promises, "This is the year we return to glamor."

With the industry enjoying a long-awaited prosperity, Koch has planned a production to match.

"The whole show will have a crystal look, and the women will appear in glamorous gowns, all designed to match the sets," he said.

The Motion Picture Academy is striving to repair its image after events that have tarnished the Oscar — no-shows by important winners, refusals of the award by George C. Scott and Marlon Brando, a streaker onstage at last year's telecast.

Solons Set Vote On Bonding Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State representatives were to vote today on a bill designed to eliminate so-called "double bonding" and needless paperwork now required under Ohio's coal strip mine laws.

Rep. Arthur Bowers, D-98 Steubenville, and other sponsors said the measure will provide more efficient administration and enforcement. It not only would ease reporting requirements by strip mine operators, but also facilitate their handling by the state Division of Reclamation, he said. Eliminated, Bowers said, would be a practice of two bonds sometimes being required on the same acreage to guarantee restoration.

The Senate returned from the legislature's week-long spring vacation Monday night and approved two bills—one of which allows election board to retain interpreters for non-English speaking voters. It is aimed primarily at those agricultural counties with heavy registrations of mostly Spanish-speaking voters, said Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin.

Returning for a morning session today, opening its deliberations for the week, the House, besides the strip mine bill, also plan floor action on three others.

They would beef up the powers of the attorney general to regulate charitable trusts such as those operating under the terms of a will, prohibit deductions from unemployment compensation based on a claimant's pension benefits, and require amber colored flashing lights on vehicles that transport preschool children.

Circleville dropped an extra inning game to Miami Trace Monday as the Panthers scored a single run in the bottom of the seventh to knot the count and then pushed across another marker in the last of the eighth to take a 7-6 decision in a South Central Ohio League contest.

The Tigers opened the scoring in the top of the third when they tallied three runs on singles by Biff Bumgarner, Phil Roll, Randy Thomas and Tim McNaughton. Several stolen bases put the runners in scoring position.

Trace bounced back with a pair in the bottom of the third to cut the margin to 3-2.

But Circleville tallied three more times in the top of the fourth on key hits by Brent Mancini, Bumgarner and Pat McNaughton.

Miami Trace cut the margin to 6-5 in the bottom of the fifth when they plated three runs. The Panthers scored the tying marker in the bottom of the seventh and Alan Connor's single in the last of the eighth plated Phillips with the winning run.

The fine sophomore hurler scattered three hits, struck out 14 and didn't issue a walk.

Castle was the losing pitcher. He gave up six hits, walked seven and fanned six.

The Vikings tallied one run in the first, two in the third and one in the sixth.

Chuck Glitt slammed a home run and double, Steve Williams blasted a four bagger and single, Stuthard rapped a double and Rusty Rathburn had a single to account for the Viking hits.

Teays Valley is now 4-1 on the season, 1-0 in league play and will be at Hamilton Twp. Thursday.

A-C Aces Lose Tilt To Fisher, 4-0

Amanda-Clearcreek was shutout by Lancaster Fisher, 4-0, Monday in a Mid-State League battle on the winner's diamond.

Cloyce Hartley went all the way for the Aces. He gave up three hits, walked four and fanned six.

Gary Elick was on the hill for Fisher. He gave up one hit, four walks and struck out six. Dave Robb came on to get the final out in the seventh inning after the Aces had loaded the bases. A-C also loaded the sacks in the third inning but were unable to score.

Keith Kelley had a single to account for the lone hit for the Aces.

Chris Henry struck the big blow for Fisher when he slammed a home run in the fourth inning. All the Fisher runs came in the fourth frame.

Mike Cassill and Jim Destadio turned in some fine defensive work for the Aces.

A-C is now 1-2-1 and will be at Westfall today.

LE Handcuffs Millersport 9-1 In Mid State Action

A trio of Logan Elm pitchers handcuffed Millersport hitters Monday as the Braves took a 9-1 Mid State League baseball game.

It was the second win in the Mid State for the Braves and their fifth win in as many starts this season.

For Logan Elm, Scott Pontius hurled 4-innings of shutout ball and was credited with the win. He walked seven and fanned seven. Derek Morris worked the fifth and sixth innings, whiffing four and walking three. Steve Marshall completed the game and walked one and struck out two. They allowed a total of five hits.

For Millersport, J. Wagner went all the way, fanning three and walking five. He was bombed for 12 hits by the Braves.

The Braves scored four runs in the first inning. Lead-off hitter Jeff Reichelderfer singled, stole second. Randy Pontius walked and after two outs, during which the runners advanced to second and third, Rob Black singled to plate both Reichelderfer and Pontius. Chuck Cave followed with a double and then Derek Morris smashed a two-run double to complete the scoring in the inning.

In the second inning, Phil Manson led off with a walk, Reichelderfer singled again and in the unsuccessful attempt to get Manson at third moved on to second. With two out again, Scott Pontius walked, Manson scored on a fielder's choice, and then Cave singled in Pontius and Reichelderfer.

In the fourth with two out, Scott Pontius tripled and scored on Rob Black's single. It was Black's third RBI of the game.

In the fifth, Mark Skinner tripped and scored on Steve Marshall's single.

Tonight Logan Elm travels to Southeastern to play one of the better teams in the Scioto Valley Conference. Tim Justus will start on the mound for the Braves.

Coach Vic Pontius noted that catcher-outfielder Greg Justus is recovering from an injured foot sustained a couple of weeks ago and will be used sparingly this week.

Baltimore Blades Finish Poor Season

BALTIMORE (AP) — Johnny Wilson, the Baltimore Blades' coach and general manager, says he's "real proud to see a last-place team get a standing ovation" from a hometown crowd at the conclusion of its World Hockey Association season.

But the applause Monday night may be the last applause the Blades ever get.

Baltimore concluded its season with a 4-2 triumph over the first-place Houston Aeros. The victory marked the third in the last six games for the Blades, which finished with a record of 21-53-4, or 46 total points, the worst in the WHA.

Jeff Wright handled the mound duties for Zane Trace, allowing four hits, four walks and striking out 11.

Mack Dick, Riddle, Terry Stevens and Hanson each had a single to account for the Mustang safeties.

NBA Playoff Wars Under Way Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Basketball Association playoff wars begin tonight with opening shots being fired on two fronts.
The New York Knicks and Houston Rockets trigger the Eastern Conference series in Houston while in Seattle, the SuperSonics host the Detroit Pistons in the West.
Winners of these first-round, three-game series will have the dubious distinction of facing the teams with the best records in each of their divisions.
By virtue of their records, the Boston Celtics of the Eastern Conference and the Golden State Warriors of the West have drawn first-round byes and will await opening-round winners in the conference semifinals.
In other playoff action, the Chicago Bulls will host the Kansas City-Omaha Kings Wednesday night in Chicago in the opening of a seven-game Western Conference semifinal series. On Thursday night, the start of an Eastern Conference semifinal series will take place in Landover, Md., where the Washington Bullets will host the Buffalo Braves.
The Knicks took their regular season series 3-1 from the Rockets, but Houston Coach John Egan still thinks he has an advantage. Two of the three games will be played at Houston, he points out.

McGinnis, Erving ABA's Most Valued

NEW YORK (AP) — After the kind of seasons that George McGinnis and Julius Erving had, how can you choose between them as the best player in the American Basketball Association?
You can't — and that's why both are the league's "Most Valuable Player" this year.
For the first time in pro basketball history, the highest individual prize will be shared — by McGinnis of the Indiana Pacers and Erving of the New York Nets.
They were named as co-winners Monday in balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, three from each of the league's 10 cities. McGinnis and Erving got 11 votes apiece, while Denver's Mack Calvin drew six votes and teammate Bobby Jones the remaining two.
"It's a great honor to again be selected and to share the MVP award with a player of the caliber of George," noted Erving, a fourth-year player

Nuggets Top Utah; Win 126-120

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Nuggets, overcoming a 10-point deficit in the final quarter on the play of forward Bobby Jones and guards Mack Calvin and Ralph Simpson, have moved into a commanding position in their American Basketball Association playoff series with Utah.
The Nuggets' 126-120 triumph Monday night gave them a 2-0 edge in their best-of-seven Western Division series. The third and fourth games will be played in Salt Lake City Wednesday and Friday.
In the only other ABA playoff game Monday night, the Indiana Pacers turned back the San Antonio Spurs 98-93 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 first-round series.

"We're 2-0, that's a hell of an advantage," Denver Coach Larry Brown said. "But we can't take anything for granted. Utah came in here and gave us a good game tonight. And the Stars always play well at home."
The Western Division champions pulled out the triumph over the fourth-place Stars despite falling behind 101-91 early in the final period.

Utah guard John Roche paced Utah's 42-point third quarter, during which the Stars rebounded from a 56-55 halftime deficit to lead 97-89 at the end of the period. Roche scored seven straight points to put Utah on top 80-78, then followed a minute later with a threepoint play for an 85-80 lead.
Ron Boone's layup barely a minute into the final period gave Utah its 10-point advantage.
Denver began chipping away, however, and after Byron Beck had scored four of six straight Denver points, the Utah lead was just 105-103 with 8:15 left.

No Direct Assault On Saigon Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say there are indications now that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong will not mount a direct assault on Saigon over the next two to three weeks but instead will press for the ouster of President Nguyen Van Thieu and a negotiated surrender of his government.
This view is being expressed at a time when Communist supplies are moving southward to catch up with the rapid advance of some 18 or 19 North Vietnamese divisions. Officials say that the Communist leadership would prefer the political approach as one way of preserving the "fig leaf" of carrying out the 1973 Paris peace accords.
A negotiated surrender also would mean that lower-ranking government officials would be kept at their jobs during the take-over period which

Robinson In Lineup For Opener

CLEVELAND (AP) — Twenty-years-ago Frank Robinson played his first baseball game as a major leaguer and he remembers almost every detail of what happened that day with the Cincinnati Reds.
He'll probably remember every detail of what happened to him today also, because he was to walk on the diamond as the big league's first black manager.
"I remember I was two-for three," he said, as he awaited his turn in the batting cage during practice on Monday. "I remember that Joe Nuxall started (for the Reds) and (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was in the game (for St. Louis) and that Stan Musial hit a home run that beat us 4-2."
Robinson, who has signed as a player-manager, also conferred with himself and he was to be in the No. 2 spot in the batting order against the New York Yankees Doc Medich.
"He had enough confidence in me to put me in the lineup on opening day," said Robinson, trying to take the sharp edges off the historic moment. "And I'm ready to go."
Robinson, who said he has batted in every position in the lineup except ninth, added that he would be happy to go two-for-three against the Yankees.
Wrapped around Robinson in the designated hitter's spot were to be leadoff man Oscar Gamble, left field; George Hendrick, center field; Carlisle Spikes, right field; Boog Powell, first base; John Ellis, catcher; Buddy Bell, third base; Jack Brohamer, second base; and either Frank Duffy or Ed Croasby, shortstop.

"I think the home court is the best thing we have going for us," says an optimistic Egan. "In a short series, it could make the difference. I don't think it makes any difference in a seven-game series."

But if the Rockets have the home court edge, the Knicks have the edge in experience. They've been in these playoffs nine straight years — even if they did squeeze in this time with a sub-par 40-42 record in the Atlantic Division.

Confidence — and lack of it — appears to be the key in the Detroit-Seattle series. Seattle seems to have it. Detroit doesn't.

"I don't think we're on that confidence level we were on when we were going well," notes Detroit star Bob Lanier. "Plus, as of last month, we've been only playing six or seven men. I don't think you can go anywhere in the playoffs without any depth."

On the other hand, the SuperSonics have the confidence of their coach.

"I'm confident," says Bill Russell, who had lots of playoff days as the star of the Boston Celtics. "I did like the way we ended our season. If Tommy (center Tom Burleson) plays well and Spencer (forward Spencer Haywood) is good, we can really be tough up front against Detroit."

who won the prize last year while leading the Nets to the ABA championship.

The 6-8 McGinnis, a second-year player who captured the league scoring title with a 29.8 average, said of his award, "I'm very happy and quite honored to be selected. Julius has been there before, but it's the first time for me. As an individual, it's the top honor a player in my profession can earn."

Erving finished the regular season second to McGinnis in the scoring race with a 27.9 mark. Both forwards, McGinnis and Erving each finished in the Top 10 in rebounding, assists, steals and three-point shooting percentages.

Lee Elder On Scene In Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lee Elder doesn't have to worry about his confidence in the Masters Golf Tournament this weekend — his caddie has enough for both of them.

"I'm No. 1," says Henry Brown, 36, a part-time cab driver who has been lugging clubs over the Augusta National course since he was 13. "I can walk this course backwards. I know every blade of grass on it. All Lee's gotta do is stay cool."

Brown asked for Elder's bag long before it became known that Lee would be the first black man to play in this prestigious invitation event.

He has caddied for Pete Cooper, Al Mengert, Art Wall and eight years for Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina.

"I would caddie for him forever," Brown said of de Vincenzo, "but he suggested I look for a younger man. He was worried about me making enough bread."

"I thought it would be nice to caddie for Lee if he ever made it."

Elder finally made it by winning the Monsanto Open at Pensacola, Fla., last year. So naturally his appearance on the scene Monday created considerable excitement.

Boston And Chicago To Meet In Playoffs

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
The big, bad Boston Bruins, don't scare too many people anymore and the rough, tough Chicago Black Hawks aren't bullies any longer. But the two teams tangle in a first-round playoff series that will end a dismal season for one club and improve a poor season for the other.
"I don't think anyone is picking us to win," said Boston's Bobby Orr, "not our fans, the press or maybe even some of our parents. They don't think we'll go much further than the first round, but when we get to the finals maybe we can talk about it."

otherwise would be chaotic.
However, officials here are not discounting the possibility that the military operation would continue in high gear if South Vietnam's resistance breaks in the Delta as it did earlier at Hue and Da Nang.
Maneuvering now in the Delta region by Communist forces is aimed at cutting off Route 4, which would separate three South Vietnamese divisions in the Delta from the active defense of Saigon.
It appears here that President Thieu decided over the weekend to stick it out in Saigon. Earlier, it had been thought that he would step down with the situation so desperate.
Evacuation of American civilians and their dependents is proceeding slowly to avoid panic among the Vietnamese.
The estimated 6,000 Americans in Vietnam one week ago was reduced to about 5,600 by last Saturday and several hundred more have departed since then. Official consideration is being given to speeding up the evacuation process. The State Department had acknowledged that dependents and civilians have been leaving but have been vague about numbers.

As for providing American assistance to the Vietnamese people who are now behind Communist lines, State Department officials are recommending that the United States not oppose help to the Vietnamese population under Communist control, provided the aid is administered by international organizations such as the United Nations.
Whatever final decision is reached on U.S. humanitarian aid, the first priority will go to Vietnamese under Saigon's rule, authorities said.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A convict leader says he and other inmates took four Tennessee State Prison counselors hostage so "another hot summer of killing" could be avoided.
"There is just so much harassment here," said Dock Walker of Memphis. "We are trying to do something now before things get out of hand around here."

Walker, 29, spent more than seven hours negotiating with Corrections Commissioner Herman Yeatman and other prison officials Monday before the counselors and several inmate-hostages were freed unharmed. Most of the prison's 2,400 inmates remained locked in their cells.

In a list of demands, the convicts asked for improvement in inmate work opportunities, food, recreation, medical services and visiting privileges; release or review of prisoners being held under administrative segregation; lower commissary prices; a federal investigation of Tennessee prisons; an end to "harassment of the officers to the inmates"; clothing for all inmates; and immunity from prosecution.

Yeatman said he would head a new permanent grievance panel to listen to inmate complaints. He said none of the dozen inmates who participated in the incident would be prosecuted. He said he will handle disciplinary actions in connection with the incident.

Prison officials said the episode began shortly before 9 a.m. when Walker and two other long-term prisoners, Gabbie Mitchell, 22, Melvin Lockett, 25, entered the counseling office, brandished home-made knives and barricaded the doors.
Caught in the office were counselors William Randolph, Mike White, Jesse Tucker and Paul Campbell. Several inmates were also held.
Walker, Mitchell and Lockett were joined by nine other prisoners.

Farmers Behind

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Indiana farmers were generally two days behind in field work through the end of last week, but work on some crops were ahead of schedule. Purdue University Agriculture Statistician reported Monday Earl L. Park only two days last week were suitable for getting work done. Plowing of land for corn and soybeans is 40 per cent complete, but all but five per cent of the total was done last December, Park reported. The total is still five per cent ahead of average, although slightly behind last year's work progress rate.

"A parked car is less apt to hit something."

People who are driving less these days should pay less for their insurance. See me for details.

Robinson In Lineup For Opener

CLEVELAND (AP) — Twenty-years-ago Frank Robinson played his first baseball game as a major leaguer and he remembers almost every detail of what happened that day with the Cincinnati Reds.

He'll probably remember every detail of what happened to him today also, because he was to walk on the diamond as the big league's first black manager.

"I remember I was two-for three," he said, as he awaited his turn in the batting cage during practice on Monday. "I remember that Joe Nuxall started (for the Reds) and (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was in the game (for St. Louis) and that Stan Musial hit a home run that beat us 4-2."

Robinson, who has signed as a player-manager, also conferred with himself and he was to be in the No. 2 spot in the batting order against the New York Yankees Doc Medich.

"He had enough confidence in me to put me in the lineup on opening day," said Robinson, trying to take the sharp edges off the historic moment. "And I'm ready to go."

Robinson, who said he has batted in every position in the lineup except ninth, added that he would be happy to go two-for-three against the Yankees.

Wrapped around Robinson in the designated hitter's spot were to be leadoff man Oscar Gamble, left field; George Hendrick, center field; Carlisle Spikes, right field; Boog Powell, first base; John Ellis, catcher; Buddy Bell, third base; Jack Brohamer, second base; and either Frank Duffy or Ed Croasby, shortstop.

However, officials here are not discounting the possibility that the military operation would continue in high gear if South Vietnam's resistance breaks in the Delta as it did earlier at Hue and Da Nang. Maneuvering now in the Delta region by Communist forces is aimed at cutting off Route 4, which would separate three South Vietnamese divisions in the Delta from the active defense of Saigon.

It appears here that President Thieu decided over the weekend to stick it out in Saigon. Earlier, it had been thought that he would step down with the situation so desperate.

Evacuation of American civilians and their dependents is proceeding slowly to avoid panic among the Vietnamese.

The estimated 6,000 Americans in Vietnam one week ago was reduced to about 5,600 by last Saturday and several hundred more have departed since then. Official consideration is being given to speeding up the evacuation process. The State Department had acknowledged that dependents and civilians have been leaving but have been vague about numbers.

As for providing American assistance to the Vietnamese people who are now behind Communist lines, State Department officials are recommending that the United States not oppose help to the Vietnamese population under Communist control, provided the aid is administered by international organizations such as the United Nations.

Whatever final decision is reached on U.S. humanitarian aid, the first priority will go to Vietnamese under Saigon's rule, authorities said.

Arraignment Set In 11 Murders

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — James Ruppert, 40, was scheduled for arraignment today on 11 indictments in connection with the shooting deaths of members of his family.

Ruppert, an unemployed draftsman, was indicted last week by the Butler County grand jury on 11 counts of aggravated murder.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A convict leader says he and other inmates took four Tennessee State Prison counselors hostage so "another hot summer of killing" could be avoided.

"There is just so much harassment here," said Dock Walker of Memphis. "We are trying to do something now before things get out of hand around here."

Walker, 29, spent more than seven hours negotiating with Corrections Commissioner Herman Yeatman and other prison officials Monday before the counselors and several inmate-hostages were freed unharmed. Most of the prison's 2,400 inmates remained locked in their cells.

In a list of demands, the convicts asked for improvement in inmate work opportunities, food, recreation, medical services and visiting privileges; release or review of prisoners being held under administrative segregation; lower commissary prices; a federal investigation of Tennessee prisons; an end to "harassment of the officers to the inmates"; clothing for all inmates; and immunity from prosecution.

Yeatman said he would head a new permanent grievance panel to listen to inmate complaints. He said none of the dozen inmates who participated in the incident would be prosecuted. He said he will handle disciplinary actions in connection with the incident. Prison officials said the episode began shortly before 9 a.m. when Walker and two other long-term prisoners, Gable Mitchell, 22, Melvin Lockett, 25, entered the counseling office, brandished home-made knives and barricaded the doors.

Caught in the office were counselors William Randolph, Mike White, Jesse Tucker and Paul Campbell. Several inmates were also held.

Walker, Mitchell and Lockett were joined by nine other prisoners.

Farmers Behind

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Indiana farmers were generally two days behind in field work through the end of last week, but work on some crops were ahead of schedule. Purdue University Agriculture Statistician reported Monday Earl L. Park only two days last week were suitable for getting work done. Plowing of land for corn and soybeans is 40 per cent complete, but all but five per cent of the total was done last December, Park reported. The total is still five per cent ahead of average, although slightly behind last year's work progress rate.

"A parked car is less apt to hit something."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A fine outlook! Day will be good for making profitable deals and arrangements. Knuckle down to steady work, forge ahead with a carefully prepared program.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Certain limitations to your success can be overcome if you take time to redefine your aims and expand operations so as to make a wider use of your talents.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some challenges possible, but face them — unafraid. With the Geminian's ingenuity and foresightedness, you should solve all situations handily.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Avoid a tendency toward lethargy. You could make some unusual strides if you put your talents to work. Stress your innate adaptability in unusual situations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may not blaze any trails now, but that shouldn't stop you from being the dedicated individual you usually are. It will pay, too — with gains of enduring worth.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A better organized routine could help you to bring things up to the mark you desire, maybe set a new record. Plan your day well.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Skepticism could defeat the fully charged action this day deserves. Believe in your goals — and keep forging ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Stellar influences now favor novel pursuits, imaginative revitalizing of all interests. Display your talents in marketable areas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid being led astray by those who are heedless of consequences, careless of responsibilities. You will face more distractions than you think, so keep up your guard.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You rarely imitate, preferring to produce in your own way. However, this day will require more attention to others' methods and know-how.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Express your ideas and opinions discreetly but firmly. Don't leave stones unturned which may have gems beneath. A generally good day — if you cooperate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A conservative and prudent attitude will keep you from going overboard through misguided enthusiasm — a tendency now. Be especially cautious in romantic matters.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely strong-willed individual; can actually be tyrannical if in a position of authority. Once having curbed this self-insistence on your own way, however, you could become an outstanding business executive or leader in other fields — for the talent is there. You are a great organizer, progressive in your thinking and (once having gained their cooperation) extremely able in getting others to work with you. Having an adventurous streak, you love to travel and are strongly attracted to art and the theater; could succeed in these fields, too, if properly trained. Other occupations suited to your capabilities: music, the law, literature, education and politics. Birthdate of: Charles Baudelaire, French poet; W.C. Fields, famed comedian; Mary Pickford and Jean-Paul Belmondo, screen stars.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The granddaddy of all awards shows, the Oscars, comes up tonight on NBC-TV, with Bob Hope, Shirley MacLaine, Sammy Davis Jr. and Frank Sinatra sharing the hosting chores.

By my count, it's the seventh nationally televised awards show this year. And at least five more are lurking in the wings, including three Emmy awards bashes for TV news and daytime and evening programs.

The spread of awarditis on TV is starting to get to my pal, Everett Scrimshaw, who writes many of the acceptance speeches you hear on awards shows. He's been working 15 hours a day, six days a week at home in Bumfudge, Fla., just to keep up with this year's crop of honors hours. And he says he may try another line of work because the dramatic increase in awards shows of late is giving him the blind staggers. His clients are increasing, as are their demands for memorable speeches.

"They all want to say something different when they get the award now," Everett groaned. "Back in the good old days, they were happy enough with the three basic approaches to accepting. There was the profound approach, when I'd have 'em say, 'In times like these, times of war, poverty and disease everywhere, it's more important than ever to bring lighter moments to people's lives.'"

"There also was the spread-it-around approach, when they'd say, 'There are so many, many people responsible for this award. I couldn't have made it without their help.'"

"But I liked the flabbergasted approach best. That's when they'd say, 'Holy moley! I don't know what to say. I never expected this. Everybody else was so great. I really don't know what to say.'"

Everett chuckled. "It was a lot of fun when they forgot to say they didn't know what to say. But that's all gone now."

"It started going to pot," he sighed, "when George C. Scott refused his Oscar and Brando sent the Indian lady to get his. A lot of people started demanding refusal speeches or protest speeches. That in turn led to calls for honest speeches, such as, 'I've got only one person to thank for this award — me.' Or, 'I'm afraid I'm drunk and what is this thing you're giving me?'"

Everett said writing the new styles of acceptance speech isn't what drives him nuts. The hard part, he said, is making each one sound different. "I figure I got 50 or so acceptance speeches per show and at least 12 shows this year to do," he grumbled. "That's 600 different ways of awards talk to handle and it's driving me out of my gourd."

I thanked Everett for sharing his problems with us. "It's nothing," he shrugged. "In times like these, times of war, poverty and disease everywhere, it's more important than ever to bring lighter moments to people's lives."

Lions Adapt To Winter

WEST MILFORD, N.J. (AP)—Though native to a subtropical climate, the 35 African lions at Jungle Habitat, a drivethrough animal park here, have adapted happily, and in their own special way, to the cool northern New Jersey winters. According to Richard L. Needleman, general manager of the 1,000-acre preserve, his lions spend a good deal of time together in the winter months inside their warm, comfortable shelters, where they have taken to mating, which has produced several new cubs in time for the park's opening in April.

He joined the Patrol in 1968 and served five months at Hiram before being assigned to Circleville.

Ohio Prisons Overcrowded, Official Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's rapidly rising prison population has caused corrections officials to consider a number of "undesirable alternatives" for housing the additional inmates.

State Corrections Director George Denton said Monday the actions could include the doubling up of inmates in oneman cells and possibly reopening part of the old Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

Denton said the number of prisoners system-wide is rising at an alarming rate with no letup in sight.

Since the start of the year, Denton said, the number of prisoners has been growing by nearly 230 per month and the total population will exceed the prison system's practical capacity of 10,200 by the end of this month.

At the start of April, the number of prisoners reached 10,009, an increase of 1,945 over the same time last year and the largest population since July 1969, Denton said.

"The only reason institutions aren't severely overcrowded right now is because the current buildup of prisoners began at a time when the population was at its lowest in over 30 years," he explained.

He attributed the rising population to fewer paroles and "unprecedented" increases in the number of persons being committed to prison.

Last year, Denton said, 3,657 prisoners were released on parole, fewest in 15 years. At the same time, commitments soared to 6,210, most for any year in the prison system's recent history and 1,097 more than in 1973.

"What's worse, commitments so far in 1975 are running ahead of even last year's," Denton said. In the first three months of this year, commitments totaled 1,877, an increase of 545 over the same period in 1974.

"Nearly all institutions are past their preferred capacities and fast approaching the limit at which they can operate effectively," he said.

PUCO Panel Organized

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 16-member legislative committee which will investigate the rate-making Public Utilities Commission holds its organizational meeting today.

Chairman Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, said the eight House members and eight senators will outline the initial phase of their work.

The appointment Monday of three Republican House members rounded out the panel, which results from numerous constituent complaints about rising utility bills.

Named by the GOP leadership were Reps. Paul S. Wingard, R-40 Stow; Richard F. Maier, R-48 Massillon, and Scribner L. Fauver, R-54 Elyria.

Other members, including the vice chairman, Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, were named earlier.

The committee is to report its findings back to the General Assembly by Oct. 15.

Logan Elm Board Commends Student For Outstanding Test Achievement

In a special resolution Monday night, the Logan Elm Board of Education voted unanimously to commend Brent Smith on his outstanding achievement. Smith a senior at Logan Elm High School, represented seven counties and advanced to the state level on the Ohio Americanism and Government Test sponsored by the American Legion.

He scored highest on the test of any of the participating students. Smith had a perfect score except for one point being taken off for a misspelled word.

The Logan Elm Board has made it a practice to pass such resolutions of commendation when students in the district make outstanding accomplishments. The commended student then received a copy of the board's resolution.

In other action at the regular monthly meeting of the board, the temporary appropriation measure was adopted as the permanent appropriation measure for the calendar year of 1975. The figure was the same as for the calendar year of 1974.

An advance draw was approved for $100,000 to meet the payroll and the monthly bills. The board has not yet received the real estate tax settlement from Hocking and Pickaway Counties.

The board granted local superintendent John Henn a five-year extension of his present contract. High school principal Dow West was also given a five-year contract.

Roger Wolfe, McDowell School principal, was given an extra month's work to assist the superintendent and the board in policy writing and other miscellaneous assignments.

Board approval was given to the school calendar for the 1975-76 school year. The local calendar coincides with the calendar adopted by the Pickaway County Board of Education.

A complete report was presented to the board from Thomas Larsen on the heating and ventilating systems at the Laurelville School. Larsen also answered the board's questions concerning the system.

Board members agreed that the situation must be corrected since an excessive amount of natural gas is being used at the building for heating. The building houses the fifth and sixth grades, EMR classes and the library in that part of the district. It has an antiquated heating system which uses 100 per cent outside air.

The board discussed House Bill 81 which appropriates financial support to the public school districts for the fiscal year ending in June, 1975. This appropriation is considered non-reoccurring so the board approved a one-time supplemental check of $100 for each teacher and administrator in the district.

All other employees in the system will receive a five cent per hour increase. The increase was made effective April 1.

Approval was made to begin procedure to purchase five new buses. The delivery date for these new buses will be Jan. 1, 1976 and will therefore come under the next appropriation measure.

At the present time, the Logan Elm District has five new buses in operation and five others on order. Superintendent Henn said the district currently operates a fleet of 30 buses so it will take six years at this rate to restock the bus fleet.

A letter from the Washington Township Parent Teacher Organization suggested to the board that a large utility pole be removed and that an attempt be made to correct the lack of parking facilities at the school. The board agreed to take the suggestions into hand and Superintendent Henn said this morning the GRISSOM AIR FORCE BASE, Ind. (AP) — Capt. Mary T. Klinker, 27, West Lafayette, was listed among those missing in the crash of the C-5A transport plane Friday near Saigon, Air Force officials here said Monday. Capt. Klinker, a flight nurse, was assisting Vietnamese orphans on the airlift to the United States when the plane went down, killing more than half the 243 persons aboard. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klinker of West Lafayette, were notified and told her chances of survival were slim.

Special Session Eyed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Tampering with property tax relief and an insufficient general fund surplus in the state budget are the only two criteria that would prompt Gov. Otis R. Bowen to call a special session of the General Assembly. Referring to the House-Senate conferees working on a state budget, Bowen said he would call a special session only "if they start diverting the Property Tax Relief fund and an inadequacy of reserve." The governor has insisted upon a minimum $80 million general fund surplus written into the state budget.

English Fair will be held May 6 as an in-school activity.

A field trip request for Jean Brudzinski's classes to go to Columbus to visit the Freedom Train was approved. The approval was for 175 history students to go.

In final action, the board employed Marcella Felky as a substitute cook and accepted the resignation of Pearl Stant as a custodial aid. The board is now accepting applications to fill this custodial aid position.

April 28 was set as the date for an extended board meeting. At that time, the board will meet with the principals to discuss employment of the teaching and non-teaching staff.

A grass fire on Island Road was reported to the Circleville Fire Department at 5:30 p.m. Monday.

About a quarter of a mile of the roadside was burning but there was no damage estimated.

Firemen could not determine the exact cause of the blaze. It was reported by Ron McCain.

City Elementary Schools Hold Spring Festival

The Circleville City Elementary Spring Festival was held Friday evening with an audience of over 2,000 parents and friends.

The concert began with the singing of the National Anthem and the theme song "The Sound of Music." The choir was made up of students in grades four, five and six from the elementary schools in the city.

The fourth and fifth grade choir then performed five selections conducted by Paul Dunkle, elementary music teacher. Three of the numbers were in honor of the bicentennial.

Mrs. Gertrude Young directed the fifth grade band as they performed selections used in their first year of instrumental study.

The sixth grade choir, conducted by Mrs. Candace Rigo, performed six selections including "Now Thank We All Our God" and selections from "Mame."

The concert included selections by the sixth grade band and also under the direction of Mrs. Young.

The combined choirs ended the program with "No Man Is An Island" and "God Bless America." Serving as the piano accompanists were Mrs. Sally Helwagen and Miss Barbara Painter.

After the concert, the students surprised Dunkle by singing "Happy Birthday," directed by Mrs. Rigo.

Ptl. Hardesty Promoted To Sergeant

SGT. L.P. HARDESTY

Ohio State Highway Patrolman Lowell P. Hardesty, who has been stationed at the Circleville Post since 1968, was promoted to the rank of Sergeant today.

Sgt. Hardesty has been transferred to Fremont where he will assume the duties of an assistant post commander.

He joined the Patrol in 1968 and served five months at Hiram before being assigned to Circleville.

Originally from Mansfield, Sgt. Hardesty graduated from Madison High School and served two years in the U.S. Army. He attended Ohio University and Columbus Technical Institute where he earned an associate degree in law enforcement.

Sgt. Hardesty and his wife, Diane, have a son, Lee, 5, and a daughter, Amy, 3. The Hardestys live at 259 Sherwood Drive.

Ohio Prisons Overcrowded, Official Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's rapidly rising prison population has caused corrections officials to consider a number of "undesirable alternatives" for housing the additional inmates.

State Corrections Director George Denton said Monday the actions could include the doubling up of inmates in oneman cells and possibly reopening part of the old Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

Denton said the number of prisoners system-wide is rising at an alarming rate with no letup in sight.

Since the start of the year, Denton said, the number of prisoners has been growing by nearly 230 per month and the total population will exceed the prison system's practical capacity of 10,200 by the end of this month.

At the start of April, the number of prisoners reached 10,009, an increase of 1,945 over the same time last year and the largest population since July 1969, Denton said.

"The only reason institutions aren't severely overcrowded right now is because the current buildup of prisoners began at a time when the population was at its lowest in over 30 years," he explained.

He attributed the rising population to fewer paroles and "unprecedented" increases in the number of persons being committed to prison.

Last year, Denton said, 3,657 prisoners were released on parole, fewest in 15 years. At the same time, commitments soared to 6,210, most for any year in the prison system's recent history and 1,097 more than in 1973.

"What's worse, commitments so far in 1975 are running ahead of even last year's," Denton said. In the first three months of this year, commitments totaled 1,877, an increase of 545 over the same period in 1974.

"Nearly all institutions are past their preferred capacities and fast approaching the limit at which they can operate effectively," he said.

PUCO Panel Organized

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 16-member legislative committee which will investigate the rate-making Public Utilities Commission holds its organizational meeting today.

Chairman Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, said the eight House members and eight senators will outline the initial phase of their work.

The appointment Monday of three Republican House members rounded out the panel, which results from numerous constituent complaints about rising utility bills.

Named by the GOP leadership were Reps. Paul S. Wingard, R-40 Stow; Richard F. Maier, R-48 Massillon, and Scribner L. Fauver, R-54 Elyria.

Other members, including the vice chairman, Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, were named earlier.

The committee is to report its findings back to the General Assembly by Oct. 15.

Logan Elm Board Commends Student For Outstanding Test Achievement

In a special resolution Monday night, the Logan Elm Board of Education voted unanimously to commend Brent Smith on his outstanding achievement. Smith, a senior at Logan Elm High School, represented seven counties and advanced to the state level on the Ohio Americanism and Government Test sponsored by the American Legion.

He scored highest on the test of any of the participating students. Smith had a perfect score except for one point being taken off for a misspelled word.

The Logan Elm Board has made it a practice to pass such resolutions of commendation when students in the district make outstanding accomplishments. The commended student then received a copy of the board's resolution.

In other action at the regular monthly meeting of the board, the temporary appropriation measure was adopted as the permanent appropriation measure for the calendar year of 1975. The figure was the same as for the calendar year of 1974.

An advance draw was approved for $100,000 to meet the payroll and the monthly bills. The board has not yet received the real estate tax settlement from Hocking and Pickaway Counties.

The board granted local superintendent John Henn a five-year extension of his present contract. High school principal Dow West was also given a five-year contract.

Roger Wolfe, McDowell School principal, was given an extra month's work to assist the superintendent and the board in policy writing and other miscellaneous assignments.

Board approval was given to the school calendar for the 1975-76 school year. The local calendar coincides with the calendar adopted by the Pickaway County Board of Education.

A complete report was presented to the board from Thomas Larsen on the heating and ventilating systems at the Laurelville School. Larsen also answered the board's questions concerning the system.

Board members agreed that the situation must be corrected since an excessive amount of natural gas is being used at the building for heating. The building houses the fifth and sixth grades, EMR classes and the library in that part of the district. It has an antiquated heating system which uses 100 per cent outside air.

The board discussed House Bill 81 which appropriates financial support to the public school districts for the fiscal year ending in June, 1975. This appropriation is considered non-recurring so the board approved a one-time supplemental check of $100 for each teacher and administrator in the district.

All other employees in the system will receive a five cent per hour increase. The increase was made effective April 1.

Approval was made to begin procedure to purchase five new buses. The delivery date for these new buses will be Jan. 1, 1976 and will therefore come under the next appropriation measure.

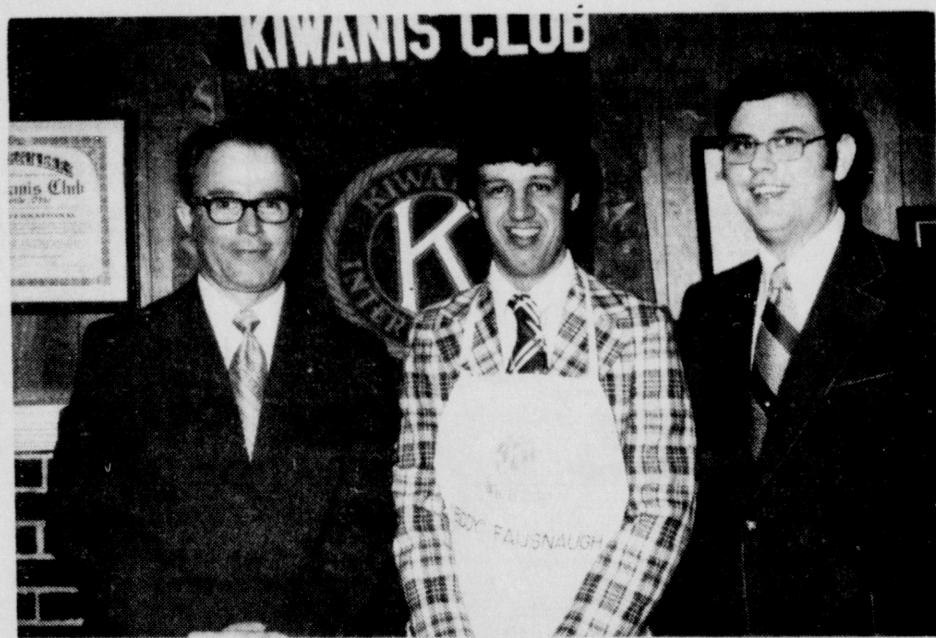

At the present time, the Logan Elm District has five new buses in operation and five others on order. Superintendent Henn said the district currently operates a fleet of 30 buses so it will take six years at this rate to restock the bus fleet.

A letter from the Washington Township Parent Teacher Organization suggested to the board that a large utility pole be removed and that an attempt be made to correct the lack of parking facilities at the school. The board agreed to take the suggestions into hand and Superintendent Henn said this morning the Bill Chandler was granted a request to have an art program on May 17. The program is for the Central Ohio Chapter of the Art Education Association and will be held at the McDowell building. Attendance will be limited to art teachers in central Ohio and the program will be a professional opportunity for the teachers to display their own work and to exchange ideas.

Approval was also given by the board for the junior class to organize an English Fair for all high school students. It will be subsidized by the board in the amount of $150 to be used for booths and other materials. The

Flight Nurse Missing

GRISOM AIR FORCE BASE, Ind. (AP) — Capt. Mary T. Klinker, 27, West Lafayette, was listed among those missing in the crash of the C5A transport plane Friday near Saigon, Air Force officials here said Monday.

Capt. Klinker, a flight nurse, was assisting Vietnamese orphans on the airlift to the United States when the plane went down, killing more than half the 243 persons aboard. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klinker of West Lafayette, were notified and told her chances of survival were slim.

Special Session Eyed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Tampering with property tax relief and an insufficient general fund surplus in the state budget are the only two criteria that would prompt Gov. Otis R. Bowen to call a special session of the General Assembly. Referring to the House-Senate conferees working on a state budget, Bowen said he would call a special session only "if they start diverting the Property Tax Relief fund and an adequacy of reserve." The governor has insisted upon a minimum $80 million general fund surplus written into the state budget.

English Fair will be held May 6 as an in-school activity.

A field trip request for Jean Brudzinski's classes to go to Columbus to visit the Freedom Train was approved. The approval was for 175 history students to go.

In final action, the board employed Marcella Felky as a substitute cook and accepted the resignation of Pearl Stant as a custodial aid. The board is now accepting applications to fill this custodial aid position.

April 28 was set as the date for an extended board meeting. At that time, the board will meet with the principals to discuss employment of the teaching and non-teaching staff.

Police Receive Vandalism, Theft Complaints

Circleville Police are investigating a vandalism report and the theft of a tool box and 20-day license tag.

Mrs. Cleo Betts, 211 Second Ave., told police that vandals applied gray spray paint to the south side of her house while she was away over the weekend.

Dan Davis, 892 N. Court St., reported that thieves took a tool box and tools from his vehicle which was parked at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Monday afternoon.

The tools and box are valued at $50. Thieves took a 20-day license tag from a car owned by Douglas McClelland, 535 Tower Court. The tag number is A-723552.
